

Neuro-Ophthalmology Virtual Education Library: 2011 NOVEL Update

Nancy T. Lombardo, Spencer S. Eccles Health Sciences Library, University of Utah; Kathleen B. Digre, Moran Eye Center, University of Utah; Larry Frohman, New Jersey School of Medicine

What is NOVEL?

The Neuro-ophthalmology Virtual Education Library (NOVEL) is an open access, peer reviewed repository of multimedia (images, videos, lectures and other digital media) to support neuro-ophthalmology professionals, educators, students and patients. This collaboration between the North American Neuro-ophthalmology Society (NANOS) and the Spencer S. Eccles Health Sciences Library of the University of Utah creates a unique model for digital collection development.

JNO Collection

The entire archive of the Journal of Neuro-Ophthalmology (JCNO1981-1993 and JNO 1994-2010) are now available on the NOVEL Web site. Agreements were made with the journal publishers to obtain the rights to the articles from all issues, with a one year embargo on current material. The archive is complete and will add each new issue as the one year embargo is lifted. This provides a permanent repository for the journal, and integrates the literature with the educational material.
